Part 1

The dinosaur film

My name is Henry and my little brother, James, is four years old. Last night, I watched a film on TV with my mum and James. There was a huge dinosaur in the film. The dinosaur's tail was enormous and its neck was very long, but its head was really small. James was scared, but Mum and I laughed at the dinosaur. It was funny. Mum baked some little pizzas. One for me and one for James. I loved my pizza, but my brother didn't want his pizza.

The film finished and it was my brother's bed time. 'I don't want to go to bed,' he said. 'Aren't you tired?' said Mum. 'Yes, but I'm thinking about dinosaurs. Do they live in our country?' James asked. 'There are no dinosaurs now,' said Mum. 'They don't live in our country and they don't live in our world.' 'Good,' said James. 'I don't like them.'
